The Theatrum played to crowded houses last night, and judging from the applause everyone was pleased, and there is no doubt that the Theatrum is the most popular place of amusement in the city. Come tonight and see a big show for little money.

Army worms are so numerous between Campbell, Mo., and Nemours, Ark., that traffic on the St. Louis, Kansas and Southeastern Railway has been interfered with. When the car wheels mesh them the track is put in a worse condition than if it had been thoroughly soaped.

Independent tobacco factories to fight the Trust probably will be organized in several cities in Central Kentucky and will manufacture Burley tobacco held by the Association, although that body will have nothing to do with the management, and will only supply the tobacco.

The many friends of John Duley, President of the Board of Trade, will regret to learn that he still remains a very sick man. It is hoped the genial gentleman will soon be restored to his wonted good health and the activities of business affairs of which he was such a conspicuous figure.

There are 4,766 dining cars operated daily, according to official reports, and it is estimated that there are "on the road" for the Government daily 725 officials. Should they contribute 40 cents each to the colored brother, the total daily amount would be $290, or approximating $100,000 a year in tips.

The second quarterly session of the Burley Tobacco Society convened Tuesday at Winchester. Thirty-one counties were represented and about 90,000 acres of pledged tobacco. The reports show that, while a full crop was contemplated 60 days ago, yet there will be an actual shortage throughout the district owing to scarcity of plants and labor.

Tom Blanchard's registered pointer dog, Esther H. Gas, was killed last evening at the corner of Commerce and Second streets by the streetcar. The dog was born August 15th, 1901, at Findlay, O., and his New York register was 90,829; his Chicago No. 9,538. He was a grandson of Plain Sam, valued at $1,000. Tom valued Esther H. Gas at $200, and is inconsolable over his decapitation and early departure for the spirit dog world.

The Esplanade Fountain after a Rip Van Winkle sleep, for 10, these many months, awakened yesterday from a dormant state and performed the function for which it was erected. The spraying water and misty vapor dampened the skirts of the Goddess of Liberty to be sure, but then it is a pretty and agreeable sight, all the same. Thanks, Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council, for your kind consideration in complying with the wishes of your constituents.

A divorce suit that is causing much talk in Dayton, Ky., because of the prominence of the principals and the sensational allegations made in the petition, has been filed in the Campbell Circuit Court in Newport by Attorney Arthur Hall for Fred A. Dietz, ex-member of the Board of Council of Dayton against Sarah Dietz. The Plaintiff is an ex-Dever man and has been married for a number of years. He alleges that his wife has left on account of religion and that she is a member of the Zolst's sect.

Their only attendants were Miss Katherine Schwartz and Mr. James Case, and for the happy occasion the home had been profusely decorated, the color scheme being pink and white.

Rev. Dr. John Barbour of the First Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by the relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties.

Miss Schwartz is a most estimable lady, endowed with those qualities that combine to make the happiest domestic life. Her wedding gown was of white chiffon and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

The many handsome presents attest the popularity of bride and groom.

Summer Comfort.

Just think, you can make an extra room of your porch, the coolest, most serviceable room in your home, too? VUDOR PORCH SHADES make this possible; they keep out the hot sun, but admit the cool, refreshing breeze. They give absolute privacy, for no one can look through them from the outside; yet they are so constructed that from the inside you can see all that goes on without. They can be instantly raised or lowered with very little effort. A practically indestructible device, operating on the principle of a theater curtain, accomplishes this. They are light but exceedingly durable, being constructed of thin strips of Linden wood fiber woven with the strongest seine twine. Vudor Shades are artistic in the extreme; stained in soft colors that rest the eye and harmonize with any style of architecture. The colors are absolutely indelible and will neither fade nor crack off.

MONEYBAK BLACK SILK.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Pursuant to the directions of the party authorities, the Republicans of Mason county are called to meet in mass convention at the Courthouse in Maysville on Saturday afternoon, July 15th, at 1:30 o'clock, standard time, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Convention to be held in Louisville, July 19th, which State Convention is to nominate a Republican state ticket to be voted for at the coming November election. Mason county is entitled to 20 votes in the State Convention.

W. D. COCHRAN,
Chairman Republican Executive Committee Mason County.

BRYAN declares that President ROOSEVELT is neither wholly a Democrat nor wholly a Republican. "He is not consistently Democratic nor consistently Republican," he declared. As to

W. J. Bryan's
Brand of Consistency.

Government ownership, Mr. BRYAN said in his opinion it would find an ultimate solution in the railways being owned by the Government, but he added that it was not an immediate issue.

Only a few months since Mr. BRYAN nearly shook the roof off the Democratic temple by his address at Madison Square Garden, when he paralyzed his party by imprudently and unqualifiedly declaring for Government ownership of the railways, at once, instant and without the aid or consent of any Nation on earth.

For that untimely and bewhiskered declaration, his closest friends and blindest admirers wept and wailed and shook with very woe and made it known that the d. o. p. was indeed undone—done up, as it were, by the great horned apostle of free commodities and free money—WILLIAM JENNINGS B.

Now the great BILLY B. modifies his railway platform and says, not yet, but soon, should the Government own the railways.

Who is consistent? BRYAN or ROOSEVELT?

Only last week in a speech delivered at Huntington, W. Va., Mr. BRYAN said—

"I am convinced that the United States leads the world in progress, education, fairness and broadness of its people. The United States is in a class by itself."

Has Mr. BRYAN helped in any way the progress and advancement of the great Nation which he says stands in a class by itself?

Has he not antagonized every measure of the ruling party now in power—the party and the power which have made the United States pre-eminent among the governments of the world?

It's a specious and a dangerous logic, indeed, which, with two National defeats and electoral repudiation hedging it about, past, present and in the future, to still reason out a vindication for nullified policies.

Mr. BRYAN is surely a back number.

THE Sweet Girl graduate saw it first and is a few laps ahead of the June bride.

OUR tariff troubles with Germany and France demonstrate again that foreign markets are not a safe and permanent reliance for any country.

It was a fluffy, gaudy looking lady that flounced into the drugstore with the inquiry:

"Can you please give me a couple of blotters?"

The clerk complied with her request.

"I'd like a couple of stamps, please."

The clerk again arose from his work and gave the lady stamps.

"Have you an N. & W. time table?"

The clerk managed to find a time table.

"Say, which is the new phone?"

The 'phone was pointed out.

"I want to call up my gent'man friend."

After a conversation which lasted over 10 minutes the woman left without thanking the clerk.

"Did you notice her?" the clerk asked the errand boy.

"She stuck her chewing gum back of her ear while she used the telephone."

PROF. E. L. GILLIS

Well-Known Kentucky Educator Goes to A. and M. College at Lexington

Prof. E. L. Gillis, Principal of the Minerva College the past five years, passed through Maysville yesterday with his family en route to Lexington, where they go to reside, having been chosen to the Chair of History by the Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. This is a great loss to Minerva College, and that community has lost a lovable family and one of the best promoters for its welfare this college ever had. Prof. Gillis brought this memorable school into greater prominence than it has ever before enjoyed, and it is unfortunate for the school and Minerva that he and his most estimable family could not have remained there. They carry with them to their new home the very best wishes of every family in the Minerva community, and his many friends elsewhere in the county and in Maysville will regret his going out of the county. The loss of such men and such families is almost irreparable. We wish him and his good family the utmost success and happiness at Lexington, and predict that even greater honors are yet in store for Prof. E. L. Gillis.

Mr. Gillis and his estimable wife were callers at THE LEDGER office yesterday and later left for Lexington over the L. and N.

They have two accomplished daughters, Miss Cleo, who just graduated from the Minerva College, and Miss Inis; both bright girls.

Their many friends in Mason county wish them continued health and prosperity in the Bluegrass capital.

Yesterday while playing ball in the First District School grounds in the West End, Clarence L. Wood, Jr., son of County Clerk C. L. Wood, was painfully hurt by being struck in the head with a baseball bat and having his scalp laid open. It was purely an accident, the bat slipping from the hands of young Middleman while striking at the ball, and Clarence being in line of the flying bat was hit and knocked down. His wound was dressed by a physician who expressed a belief that nothing serious would result from it.

MUST PAY AT LAST

Maysville Boys Will Receive Money Seven Years After Rendering Service

Judgment of the State Fiscal Court, granting suit of mandamus against Percy Haley, Adjutant General of Kentucky, to compel him to certify and approve the pay-roll of the Maysville Company of the State Guard of 1900, commanded by Captain Horace J. Cochran, and which did service at Frankfort under orders of Governor W. S. Taylor from January to May, 1900, was affirmed by the Kentucky Court of Appeals yesterday.

The soldiers will now be paid, seven years after rendering the service.

Especially night coughs. Nature needs a little help to quiet the irritation, control the inflammation, check the progress of the disease. Our advice is—give the children Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Ask your doctor if this is his advice also. He knows best. Do as he says. We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations.

THE NAME

Of Every Farmer Should Be Placed On Gate of His Farm

It has been frequently suggested and the suggestion is a good one for every farmer to place his name and the name of his farm on his road-gate.

Not only would persons driving to a place more easily find it, but it would add more pleasure and interest to people driving from place to place.

This last result would have special effect with regard to well kept and pretty houses.

An observing person will seldom pass a beautiful farm without desiring to know who is its enterprising owner.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. INCORPORATED

THE WOMAN, THE BOOKS AND THE PRETTY GIRL

By KATHRYN KNIGHT.

The Pretty Girl looked mournfully into the box from which she had taken the last piece of candy.

"Do you know," she said, with a disconsolate air, "that I'm tired of being frivolous and silly. I want to take an interest in something serious."

"Or do you mean a serious interest in something?" sympathetically inquired the Woman. "The two are not exactly synonymous, and sometimes you get more pleasure out of being serious yourself."

"Yes, there are those people who take an interest in bugs. They take a real serious interest in bugs, but it often does seem awful silly. Now, why can't I take an interest in something? I'm going to. I'm going to take an interest in china or old furniture or books."

Then the Pretty Girl looked very important, while the Woman listened in awestruck silence. But it's silly to have convictions if you don't back them out, and the Pretty Girl is not slow.

"Let's go right around to that book shop the Book Worm told us about and look at the books."

The book shop was kept by a nice little man who spoke English with an English accent, which everybody knows is different from an American accent. He was delighted to show the Pretty Girl the books of which he was the custodian. They were "tooled" books; the classics were dressed up in handmade costumes that were perfectly beautiful.

There was one set of tooled Shakespeare that was lovely. Radiant in a binding of red and gold, it fairly shone resplendent.

"Now, this," said the custodian, "was done at our English house. It is one of the finest specimens of hand work that we have."

"Isn't it perfectly beautiful!" exclaimed the Pretty Girl. "It's just too sweet for anything." And then, in a burst of confidence, "You know I am not really interested in this sort of thing, but I'm trying to be."

The Woman, who had been trying to uphold the dignity of the personally conducted party by admiring an old engraving which she afterward found out it was wrong to admire, because said engraving had been colored, gasped. But the Custodian of the Books did not mind; he merely beamed upon the Pretty Girl and brought down some more books which were utilized in her education.

Somehow, everybody helps the Pretty Girl to do whatever she happens to want to do.

Then a lovely volume of Tennyson was displayed. The binding was of dark brilliant green, and the golden edges and the binding met in what seemed to be a solid cover.

"Isn't it too cute?" exclaimed the Pretty Girl, as she ran her finger along the smooth binding. "It looks just like one of those fancy candy boxes. Do you know," turning suddenly on the Woman, who was admiring a copy of "Jack the Giant Killer," "he didn't send me any candy last week."

"How much is this?" gasped the Woman, picking Jack hastily up in an endeavor to bring the conversation back to more intellectual lines.

"Sixty-five dollars. It is one of the most beautiful copies in existence. See, these engravings are exquisite and the type used resembles fine Italian writing. The binding is splendid calf."

"What a mercy it isn't cow," broke gurglingly from the Pretty Girl, who beamed at her own joke.

And because the Pretty Girl made it—for no other reason the Woman felt sure, the Custodian of the Books beamed too, which led the Pretty Girl to remark as soon as she reached the outside that it was all a mistake about Englishmen having no sense of humor.

"Do you sell many books?" was the next question the Pretty Girl thought to ask.

"Well, no; but, you see, we have such expensive books that the majority of people don't buy them. We have a number of good customers, the kind of people who know just what they want and who don't mind paying the prices asked. These are the people who already have splendid libraries and who are always looking out for something to add to them."

"I think I'll start a library," soliloquized the Pretty Girl. "It would be better than collecting furniture, because I live in a flat and antique things are so big and china gets broken. I think I'll begin right away; now, how much is this?" picking up a tiny volume of Keats.

"That's six dollars; a very artistic piece of work it is, too."

The Pretty Girl pursed up her lips thoughtfully.

"I wonder whether I'll need a new pair of slippers to go to the dance?"—and then she beamed on the Custodian—"I believe I'd better wait to begin the library. But it's been so good of you to show us all the charming books; I've learned such a lot this afternoon, and if you'll let me I'll come back again."

"Isn't it lovely to feel that you are really taking a serious interest in something?" she dimpled as she walked down the street.

"Or an interest in something serious," said the Woman.

"Oh, well, either way. Let's go and get a hot chocolate."

Mrs. Paul Glascock has been very ill for the past two weeks but is able to be about again and is rapidly convalescing.

HOUSEHOLD CARES

Tax the Women of Maysville the Same as Elsewhere.

Hard to attend to household duties
With a constantly aching back.

A woman should not have a bad back,
And she wouldn't if the kidneys were well.

Doan's Kidney Pills make well kidneys
Here is a Maysville woman who endorses this claim:

Mrs. Lizzie Bridges, of 206 West Third street,
Maysville, Ky., says:

In March, 1900, I gave a testimonial recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and in it I told how I learned the great value of this remedy.

I had been troubled with a bad back and weak kidneys from girlhood and in my efforts to find a cure tried every medicine I could find but without benefit until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved just the remedy I needed.

They went right to the cause of the trouble and as a result brought relief that led me to testify in their favor. I have never been without Doan's Kidney Pills in the house since. Every spring I take a box whether symptoms of kidney trouble are apparent or not, and in this way keep the kidneys in good condition and guard against attacks of my old trouble.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box.
